Clay Picture (Satirical Story)

With science and reason we seek help and let the great enlightening logic live

The little boy sat in front of his old grandfather and took the child in amazement and admiration as he contemplated his grandfather while he was busy making a clay statue. It is always wanted, desired and loved because it has artistic shapes and ornaments and eye-catching artistic zigzags and twists.

One day the child sat in front of his grandfather contemplating him while he was making a strange statue of a man and next to him a woman who looks like a small part of this man's body as if it sprang from one of his ribs or from Part of his huge and strong body as depicted and embodied by the statue. The boy asked his grandfather in astonishment that was invaded and stormed by armies of confusion and questions more than admiration and fascination, saying: Why do I see the woman look small and weak next to this man?

Aren't they both statues identical in type and size? looking at him His grandfather with a wide smile bearing a measure of sarcasm and sarcasm mixed with interest and drops of mud dripping from between his fingers that he wraps around the statue as if they are drops of blood dripping from the body of a dead person or a dagger that has just entered a sacrificed body. The man has power and strength, but it is weak! Immediately, the boy replied, his innocent face with astonishment, saying: Do you mean, grandfather, that she is inferior in status to him? So the grandfather sighed, feeling bored: What a boy who asks a lot and talks a lot.

.To refrain from asking a lot and inquiring

But I want to understand, Grandfather. Is it not my right to think, - clarify everything you say to me, tell me, or teach me about it? Is it not permissible for you adults to make mistakes or forget an ?example. Are you not human or are you infallible from this matter

My son, do not be too arguing and debating and reduce your --- questions. Not everything in this life must be understood. There are many things that it is better for us not to know and teach them with have to follow his thinking or his whims.my Lord. Each one We Then he created the man in this nature to be strong to protect the woman, and therefore she must obey him and gain his approval after

.God

The child's face was astonished and he was wondering!!! Saying: Create!!! What does this word mean, grandfather? Does it indicate that there is something that did not exist in the first place and that it
?was created out of emptiness or nothingness

With astonishment and muffled fury, the grandfather asked, "Who - put these words into your head, you wretched wretched boy? They ".are not your words

He is the science teacher in the school. He told me this after I quarreled with a classmate, the teacher then blamed me, saying that I created a problem that did not exist in the first place. When I asked him what is the meaning of (created)? He told me that he used to ask such questions to his father, mother, and teachers when he was my age, but he did not get a satisfactory answer from any of them,
.and he has been puzzled to find the answer until now

But he is trying to read in scientific books and that he intends to do research and higher studies in this field. When I asked him why he wanted to research in this particular matter.. he said: In order to discover the greatness of this creation and the Creator and how we created us from nothing.. What a smart, solid and strong design!! !.
But immediately when I shouted his words in my ear, I remembered the poor school worker who dipped during food in a few grains or two grains of rice at most, and when he tried to drink some water, the grain of rice stuck to his throat and choked his breath, and he died instantly. Teaching because she had erosion of the cartilage in her spine just because she was carrying heavy things while arranging and cleaning her house and she was not, but after a period of time I heard that there was erosion in the vertebrae of her spine. How is this evidence of strength and durability!??? The fault must not be in the intelligent design, it must be that they are the idiots. As for the design, it is forbidden, and neither should it be weak or fragile. It is from the All-Knowing Expert. The grandfather sighed with indignant and angry looks, in which confusion and astonishment were mixed with the questions of this boy, who was much in controversy and questions

But the boy increased his bewilderment and anger at him even more when he surprised him with his words, saying: You know, grandfather, I compared the manufacture of the German mobile phone that you gave me last year for excelling in my studies because I was the first in school. The Chinese mobile phone industry is of the third class, so I found the difference is huge. Indeed, the German mobile phone design is smart and strong, as it bears everything to the maximum degree. As for the Chinese mobile phone of the second or third class, it was not with this degree of durability and strength, and it was weakened and affected by any effort, and this is of course because it is not From a knowledgeable expert and no creator, sorry, a wise clever maker like the German or Japanese one, for example.

but after I learned what happened with the poor wretched school worker who left behind a poor family and did nothing but sink into a grain of rice. And my school, which resigned and retired due to the erosion of its back just lifting heavy things several times, although it did not suffer from a problem previously, I said to myself and wondered: Are the school workers and my resigned teacher so weak as the Chinese product or the Chinese mobile phone, or are their bodies not as good as the German, Japanese or American product? ???!!! And here the grandfather's right flew, and a fiery look stared at the boy, and his anger and anger over the arguing boy a lot, and he grabbed his clothes and said: You have crossed all limits, you .damned. around you and still have limited understanding of things

But I am sure that these questions and these words are not for you, he is this damn stupid science teacher. Now I know that the school administration was right when I turned him to investigate more than once for his strange, sick ideas and his weak religious scruples, and in a firm and commanding tone, while he was still holding the boy's shirt collar, continuing his speech : I command you not to talk to this senile teacher again, or else you will receive a severe punishment from me.

I understand, he is a man who has surrendered his mind to the devil and has been truthful for a long time, and the devil is still playing with the mind of this stupid teacher right and left until he delivers him to the path of perdition. In an attempt to calm the grandfather, I patted the child tenderly on the hand of his grandfather while he removed it from his neck, which was surrounded by the grandfather and applied to it with his fingers that were covered with mud, saying: I am still young, as you say, Grandfather, and for sure, I do not realize everything I say and my words are nothing more than an attempt to understand and explain as much as possible. A young child, and for my teacher he is seriously considering traveling abroad because, .according to him, he suffers from persecution and exclusion here

This is much better for him and us, so let him go before he spoils --- your little mind with his slanderous insinuations and superstitions, so he takes his evil with him and leaves and rests and relaxes. Then the grandfather added, "It is time for lunch." One day, grandfather suddenly entered his workshop and found the boy

Standing and contemplating the clay statue that his grandfather made as he tries to insert his fingers into the body of the statue made of clay, as if he wants to extract something from it, he looks at the tips of his fingers and finds nothing but clay in them. : What are you doing son are you crazy?!! Quickly and eagerly, the words passed on his lips, and it seemed as if they were thunderbolt punches to his grandfather, saying: Did you not tell me, Grandfather, that these two statues are the origin of creation and creation, and that they embody the first father and the first mother of all mankind,

.meaning that they were the first human beings? clay

Yes, indeed, it is the origin of our upbringing and creation as human .beings

Then why when my finger is injured, I see nothing but drops of--- blood coming out of it, where is the mud? Although the professor of religion confirmed that to us and explained it and explained it in the (religion) class the best explanation until we were completely convinced and believed everything he told us and taught us. But in science class, my teacher once told us that he had read in scientific research on the biological development of the human body a well-established scientific fact, which is that biological evolution never mentioned this story of clay or the creation of clay, and that the silica and aluminum material found in clay and soil is completely different from The components of the human body that we studied in science
It is true that my teacher was interrogated by the school administration and was punished for what he said, and since that day there has been a major estrangement between him and the (religion) teacher in our school.

He always accuses the science professor of trying to belittle him in front of his students and deliberately embarrassing him because he hates him and plots against him by all means to expel him from school. With proven scientific research supported by experiments and scientific papers, the (religion) teacher rushes immediately to an attempt to link and recycle his beliefs and sanctities to be in line with the science presented by the science professor before him! In the end, the discussion between them ends sharply, and each of them goes on a different path, forming two parallel lines that never meet at .one point that brings them together

The old grandfather got up as soon as he heard these words from the boy who was much arguing and discussed, and walked with nervous double steps, and slowly approached lumbering from his chair, and began to move his feet around the machine that he wrapped around the clay to make from Clay statues and pots, and then he got up from his place after he threw one of the pottery pots on the wall and broke it in two and then approached in anger towards the boy, saying firmly: The professor (religion) believed that you he is a sincere believer who fears his Lord and wants to plant in faith and fear of the Creator Almighty . As for this professor of sciences, he has been humiliated and strayed, and for the thousandth time I tell you, do not give your mind to his satanic .thoughts that he is one of the doomed

Certainly, my dear grandfather, you are right. Thank God, I did not and will never surrender my mind to Satan, who cursed him, the curse of the mortal, because Satan is by nature a malicious, evil, mean, who wants to destroy and destroy human beings. Only among all living creatures did he choose this mean but us humans to enter Hell. May the wrath of the Most Merciful, the Most Merciful, be poured out upon us! I wish I were an animal or a plant or even an inanimate, inanimate object, only to be saved from its spreading evil, so that I would not be one of the mortal rebels, and they are, God forbid, the unbelievers And the hatred of this accursed Satan who deserves the painful punishment, although I do not know and do not understand why this stupid Satan himself did what he did??!!!

Why would he harm himself and sentence her to life imprisonment and throw himself into eternal hell and violate orders if he knew the consequences of his heinous act in advance?!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!
!!!!!!!!!!!!!! He must be a lunatic or mentally ill or perhaps mentally ill, so the patient does not have to blame or be embarrassed, and therefore this of course does not mean that we accompany or surrender our minds and thoughts to this satanic disease or this pathological devil, but I nevertheless find that the professor of science does not hold grudges against anyone and does not harbor malice to anyone as The (religion) teacher accuses him. He only believes and trusts what science has reached him with research and logical scientific evidence backed by experiments and research, as we are accustomed to explain and analyze for us in science classes and in the laboratory of experiments.

Contrary to what I see in the professor (religion) who teaches us everything he pours in Our heads are with sayings and stories told by those who heard them and we are not allowed to discuss anything under the pretext that we must listen and obey and not argue or debate because sacred things are greater than our understanding and have no limits, as they are above logic and limited science But, my beloved grandfather, I feel when I try to implement his words that he teaches us every day, I feel that I am literally like a blind man who extends both his hands to a guide to show him the right path and delivers his hands and his thoughts to him without discussion.

Then the boy put both his hands on his eyes and said in a tone not without sarcasm: I am more than willing to be blind in order to please you, my dear grandfather. Then he quietly approached two steps from his grandfather, asking: Do you want me to be blind or seeing, Grandfather? And if you prefer blindness to me in order to relax my mind and keep me away from evildoers who befriend Satan, then I have no objection to that, and let me be satisfied with what was said and I do not need to care about what he does! The words in this case are safer and certainly better than actions! And whether the sayings and tales of a teacher (religion) and what he teaches us are true or false, and whether the actions of the science teacher supported by conclusive evidence and proof are wrong or not!!!!!!! Let us leave the reality of the whole subject to the knowledge of the unseen and the Knower of the unseen, for he (he does not ask what he does) and in the end our minds are still deficient in understanding .His wisdom, and in comprehending His mercy (Exalted be He).

You have turned my mind upside down, you wretched boy, and you have struck me with astonishment at your mind and your confusion Perhaps you felt this, grandfather, because you are an old man from an ancient time, and you did not receive any knowledge, and you did not find in front of you only the legends and tales that were thrown to your mind to explain what is happening around you, according to what your father, mother and sheikh taught you, even if it was .nonsense

Grandfather is angry: What do you mean, brat? Do you mean that I am ignorant and my thoughts are old, illogical and unreal, as you ?claim

Pardon, grandfather, I did not mean that at all and I apologize for - what I said, and remember that I told you a few moments ago that I must leave the matter to the unseen. Because our minds, no matter how high they are, are deficient, and knowledge is limited, no matter .how broad our perceptions are

Then go to your mother and bring a cup of heavy tea or a strong - - cup of coffee made by her hand. I got a headache from your talk and .argument, you little idiot

Well, grandfather, we listened and obeyed. The boy walked outside his grandfather's workshop a few steps, and when he reached the door, he turned to his grandfather and said to him: I have a request .and please, my beloved grandfather Quickly say what do you want next?

He said with a contemplative look, examining the clay statue of the man and the woman beside him: I want you to give me this statue to put it in front of me on my desk while I study, for I always see it in my mind, even if I think of it before I sleep I see it in my dreams The grandfather turned towards the statue and calmly extended his hand and carried it, then approached the child and gave it to him while he him, my dearpatted him tenderly on his shoulder, saying: Take grandson, and always remember my words as you meditate on him, perhaps they will be a lesson and a sermon for you. To keep you away from faith and the pleasure of the Most Merciful, so that you will become one of the lost and those against whom the Lord of the worlds is angry.

Then the days and years passed, and the boy grew up and became a physicist and a scientist in sciences and scientific research. But he always looked at the pottery statue while holding the picture of his grandfather, who passed away a few years ago, and he always remembered the last thing his grandfather said to him on his deathbed saying: - I will die, my son. I will perish, and his craft and my profession, which people have always loved and accepted, will perish, and all stories and legends will disappear, as you called them, my dear grandson, and I know for sure that you will not work in my profession, and it no longer suits you, my son, I am the late and you will inevitably come.

Then the physicist smiles calmly mixed with sadness whenever he remembers his grandfather's words. But do you wonder if the owner of the boy is the devil and his truthful one?

The Caller (satirical article)

Just like the forbidden fruit, everyone and everyone must eat from it, whether he feels it or not. In both cases he is compelled to do so, why because society has forced him or will force him to do so if he does not, and yet we see him advise everyone publicly and clearly to stay away from the forbidden tree and They eat the forbidden fruit that you will bring out of the eternal heavenly bliss of the earthly infernal hell, and this is according to that legend or tale, or as it were, to transfer that saying. He is the first to betray the first page in the book of his faith, belief or legend, so we see him calling things by their names outside, and thus transgressing all logic and sometimes all morals, and following all patches for the sake of his whims. The sacred and which are stacked with illusions. It must have a close bond.

The longer this bond is long-term and the longer it takes, the longer it will become obsolete, and no matter how anxious, sad and distressed both parties feel, the important thing is that this close bond continues, which relieves the distress of the distressed and removes any distress. At that time, the girl or woman is drowning and wandering in seas of deception, walking on a dark road, appearing to her with its embroidered colors, luminous as if it were)eternal bliss, but (heaven is hell, red ?

But all of that she does not see, and it seems to her to the contrary, as she walks and walks without guidance (Your choice, Abu Bakhit), and she says to herself (Is this the paradise that I want and for the rest of my life I wish for), thinking that the voice she hears is calling her from afar? He is the happiest happy and he is the one who will bring her the benefit and everything that is exciting and new, and it will never help her to know or ask herself whether it is really so or is it severe torment and promise and threat, but what is important is that he is a strong, strong and strong young man (and his health is like iron) (something from afar called me) And the first thing when Jarali called me, I didn't have my hands, Yaba) I remembered right away as I was writing this to my grandmother when we used to gather around her when we were young to tell us the story of the man who (sighed) or the girl who (sighed) heard or heard a voice knocking on her ears from afar calling her from his right or right. So he missed the world and got lost or lost wandering wandering far away (and he said get me on the land of wonders) This is from the right side and in order for you to be among the people of the right, the one who knocks on the right must call you, hear, and still do not understand) and said to her (Get me at the apartment of wonders and we will remain lovers)

It's B we will have a large share and (part) Then the Tariq called her from the north, saying: "He called me from the north. He said, 'O mother, the dowry is expensive.' He must pay her a precious dowry, because she is also valuable fish, and in order for the deal to be successful, the price must be sorry (the dowry) is expensive, so that the deal is profitable, and if it comes out with a loss, the loss will be Not fatal. Then the knocker calls out again eagerly and with interest, either marriage or death, or else the lover or the husband, whoever he is, will have a cold and a cold (and his condition remains soot in soot) and the voice of the knocker says (call me from behind.

Luminous or gloomy black? Luminous or dark opaque? No one knows if she walks attracted by the knocking sound.. Oh, from the nights and from the darkness of the nights.. But she will definitely know. She will know what kind and color the shape of these nights are, but when? Where? A place where a foot trampled on thorns, I thought it was silk, and then it was nothingness in nothingness.. I know that many will say that not everyone is like that, and I see them and hear them with the praise of the great marriage and the holy and noble bond they glorify, and from the praise of it they multiply, and from the abundance of flirtation in it they shout cheerfully thanks to him and like crows All or the majority here will become lawyers and with the arrows of their tongues they will defend and glorify the matter of what is called marriage, glorifying and glorifying it, although as they say or claim is a Sunnah and not Assuming it comes by force and they must come to it, even though they may be cursing it inside of them. But it is a necessary evil, as they say.

Circumstances sometimes or in many cases may force them to take it, even if the time was not appropriate. It is better than falling into sin and being held accountable than wrong. , and there is no problem that the bride is small or even his child is to some extent may be large, no problem, it is a sacred bond and its sanctity dominates anything and increases it light over his light that covers anything else.

The little girl will grow, the weak will get fat, the few will multiply, and the ignorant one can learn even the speechless of sweetness, beauty and the importance of marriage!!! The important thing is to get married, for it is the strategic goal and the grand prize, and it is the end of the day, and there is no need to be afraid, and whoever fears must strengthen his resolve It is not necessary at all to live your life as you want, but live it as the life of others, and otherwise your situation will be humiliating.

But this hidden jewel and the preserved life embodied in what they call marriage must be preserved in order for humanity to continue, yes we will continue with all determination and determination in more foolishness and stupidity, and giving birth to innocent children and other than this talk is nonsense. With me that the whole number is in the lemon)) And from the large number of children, are they beneficiaries? Is the issue measured by quantity, not quality? But what we have is not important at all, nor is it on us It is of some importance and not a matter of importance that the developed countries possessing science, progress and technology are the Western countries. They do not care about the abundance of children, and it is never of any value that the civilized countries are less in number. In our view, we are like the desolate desert because they are infidel nations.

They are nothing more than idiots, idiots, and with knowledge, but with real sciences, not jurists. It is never a matter that these countries consider what is called marriage as just an official relationship for those who want, and those who do not want may be about her and as he pleases far away and no one will ever see him as a prostitute or a blasphemer. It is not important that they are all nonsense and nonsense, but the most important thing is the large number of boys and girls (they multiplied, etc.!!!!) flaunting them in front of the nations! What about the quantity, and the number (Madad, our master Sheikh Madad) and in our eastern societies the woman is always the victim.

She is like crows who sacrifice him as a sacrifice that all the tongues twisted in the event that she sees the marriage in its miserable reality and knows that it is often for her that which is nothing but (calamity and calamity) What if a woman lived without him and with freedom? What a scandal it must have had bad faith, it must have marital ties wrapped like a folded rag. She has gone out of the ordinary and her place among the people or the herd has become unknown and unfamiliar! What if she shouted at the top of her voice, smashing the bondage of that bondage? What if the female eagle .(?flew away from those herds to enjoy freedom

Woe to her, and any vice or calamity must befall her, my lady, never withstand, and you must back away, even if it costs you, unless you were taken into account, and even if you went out and left out of the flock, and it wasn't, the return is cheap, no matter how high its value, it will not be more expensive than all the prices you paid, even If the opposite is freedom, the important thing is that you are in the eyes of everyone satisfactory and they have a concubine and (Tz and Mit Taz in freedom). This reminds me of the saying of one of the men who is neither a philosopher nor a wise man. Rather, a mean slanderer must be one of the biggest meanness, because he incites a rupture between the members of the herd and the disappearance of friendship and harmony between them. On something, I know that there is some danger, and immediately I take the opposite direction and oppose them all, and for this great crowd, I walk alone, and I do not walk, confident in the steps.

Everyone can reach it or say the herd, the eagles fly away, and this also reminds me of a simple analogy in words, great and deep in meanings and lessons, which is that this marriage is just like new shoes that you are happy with, and it is shiny and strong as iron when you buy it and after a while it expands in your feet and spreads the ground after its wear and remains Your feet limp in these shoes and swing between torment and suffering for life, and here you will say, "I wish I were barefoot and kept barefoot." Someone asked one of the wise men, saying to him: Should I marry or not? He replied, "In"!both cases, you will regret it and on the occasion of the shoes, I am (barefoot, I do not wear this damn worn out shoe, which I used to see like this from the beginning until I got rid of it and took it off completely and forever, and I am proud of that and my freedom. And as the wonderful American satirical writer (Mark Twain) said) (The single dies the death of dogs, but the married lives Of course, it is never right and unacceptable to die the death of dogs, but how great it is for you to live your life even if your life is (a rumble in a roar).

What are the burdens and shackles of that marital slavery and freeing up inventions for example that will benefit humanity? It is a trivial matter and is of no importance!!! The important thing is that your life in marriage is painted and protected! This is the essence of genius! Let's say rather a collision or a painful injury, and the bride is in her white wedding dress in the color of a shroud, like a sacrifice or an orphan, so there is no problem in that, so let her influence that incident and do not let the incident affect her!!!! Yeh). (By the way, I was the one who affected the incident, not the incident that affected !!!!!!!!!me.

And you laugh and fates laugh. What irony fates are when they try to simplify and simplify the trivial things and laugh at them that are complicated to understand and comprehend despite their ease and simplicity! Isn't that right, dear reader? Until the vortex area goes beyond its death and its face!!! Did you see, dear reader

How limited your thinking and your understanding of things are poor and almost non-existent, it will make you cry that most of the people in our beautiful cultured peoples and our foreign Arab culture means (in my Arab country!!! All of them find it difficult to understand many words and meanings in their most important sacred matters and beliefs piled on top of their heads. And there is no problem. Never be surprised and amazed when you ask yourself how these sanctities, which are for the whole world, are supposed to be easy to understand and clear in language and interpretation.?! .?! How in the West or any

A non-Arab human race???!!!! And here comes the role of translations, explanation, interpretation and modifications, so we see the glorious interpreter overlooking us with his glorious appearance, his infernal words that are tenderness and nostalgia painted and cooked!!! It explains and shows us what is difficult for us to understand and explain, and it makes it easier for us to perform it, and it explains and justifies what is difficult for us to explain. But this in itself makes the question arise itself, do we and others really understand?! And if we really understood, why do we still ask for clarification?! Are we so stupid?

Is our stupidity beyond all limits?! It must be the case and has no other explanation! Revered commentators and scholars have done and are doing their best

And their efforts to make clear to us everything related to the matters of our daily lives so that we can practice them in a correct, sound and acceptable manner without deviating or, God forbid, lead us to an unsound path that distances us from the right direction and the straight path. But the strange thing is that they themselves are divided! And on the agreement, they do not agree! And if we look around us, we will find that each group of scholars and commentators has opinions that differ from the rest of those who are like them from the others, and each group of the teams insists on their opinions, and in the end we became the only ones who were confused! But despite all that, we find them always and forever about that, they are not remorseful. Why regret?

And for what? (Sorry for looking, but they are not wrong, we are the theirones who are always wrong because we always believe And different interpretations, which are incompatible with each other, are believers. This is of course because they are not liars or forgers) (But you are not the same with me, noting that the one who always tries to think and operate his mind always stays in a small space, and they always say that he is slandering in the goodness group.

It is nothing but a disease of the eye, and of course the jurists and interpreters of our interest are always afraid, and therefore they are always keen on our comfort and keeping us away from this mighty mental effort, which, God forbid, may lead us to error instead of right and throw us, God forbid, into the fire, and therefore it is never permissible for us Risk and adventure. Accordingly, each one of us must surrender his mind to receive in relaxation, calmness, and delicious laziness all that is thrown to him and his mind of explanations, details and clarifications of all the sacred meanings and ideas, and if he cannot comprehend them or comprehend them and understand them after all this, he is responsible for his stupidity because his mind is the mind of a donkey! , and you laugh and the predestination laughs. If the sighted person is alone in the midst of all of the blind, for sure (because they are all like each other blind and he is the only sighted among all these blinds, then directly and without thinking) he would be sure. The dreaded virus is transmitted from Our sighted brother and the rest suddenly turn sighted! This dangerous microbe must be immediately eliminated and prevented from spreading, or for example if only one was walking on his feet and the rest and everyone walked on their heads! Will their position on this photo be upside down?! Quite the contrary, he is the only abnormal one among them and he is the violator, but with each other they form a similar interlocking force because they are all in one in the sense of the herd, meaning (it is not anyone who comes alone like this to speak, it is not a chaos, Master), and if you dare and kneel, dear reader, and decide to do like this The foolish young man who violated the group and got out of its warm embrace and violated the system and objected to all the explanations and interpretations Which detailed and clarified in front of him whichever explanation and whatever explanation, but he is stupid, so he decided, after being ridden by stupidity and stupidity, and he continued and followed the mind that is the biggest disease and violated the system and walked forward!!!! Imagine Forward!!!

Although everyone in his village was walking happily and peacefully backwards or forwards. Everyone practiced all the matters of their lives and all their rituals while walking behind their backs!!! Without any fatigue, hardship, or trouble, on the contrary, they felt comfortable, relaxed and blissful, and why not? The way forward is difficult and perilous, not easy, comfortable and smooth. Walking backwards and backwards, and going down is easier than going up

Surrender is easier and more comfortable and safe than steadfastness! So, my dear, do not be like this young man who rejected everything that was tried and tested, clear and obvious, and who violated what is known and what is known. (And he said, "What does he want to occupy his mind?" He did not like the situation. He also thought!!! And after all the detailed explanation and all the clarification and interpretation, he still refused and with all ingratitude he would deny!

The path of thinking, because it is the path of perdition, and in order not to expose yourself to perdition, follow the path of scholars and commentators and their clear clarification, because that is the clear path. And do not tire yourself with all these perils and perils, because in the end, you will certainly be doomed. Look with me to that broad and wide canvas and to those many bright and clear aspects of every meaning, interpretation, ruling or legislation in every creed or religion whose interpretation you find varied, clear and solid. What wonderful, intelligent interpreters. They satisfy all tastes (and every color is simple).

They take into account your thinking and appreciate your confusion and suffering in the search for answers and explanations for every ambiguity and contradiction in everything that came and also everything that is to come! Have you seen how they take care of feelings, how eager they are to please you and your feelings and your satisfaction and want to keep you away from the path of perdition! You may find the thing and its opposite in one meaning, one ruler and one legislation. They satisfy all minds and all tastes. Solutions that satisfy all parties.

And I will add to you a line of poetry every day. A new poem appears to us calling for development and renewal, which is about the same thought and style, not far away. It appears to us with dignity, wisdom and intelligence on channels or even in space, then delights our ears with all the pleasures of newness and renewal until the matter is nice and gentle and on the minds. Easy, lovable, and useful. He surprises us with what we hadn't thought of and tells us that it's easy if you just .make up your mind for a few minutes

You will get the desired understanding and this is basically the goal of the Lord of the servants. Just as the waves of the sea ripple and bend and bend with you the interpretation in any situation and in any direction, and when necessary, the interpretation will be present and ready to be shaped and rippled with you as you want if the matter calls for it, and science has proven its sayings supported by its experiences and actions. So make sure that you will immediately find the interpretation in front of you, ready and present, like a rubber that is stretching in the desired direction with ease. The white one you can see is black and vice versa. Bearish, bullish, bullish, bearish. Don't you see with me, dear reader, that this bumping and zigzag are just like industrial bumps, they always load cars from accidents and collisions with each other. Have you not yet understood the wisdom, my dear? This meandering is in your favor and only targets your interests. As they say, difference is a mercy. Who said otherwise? Did anyone say, God forbid, that he was confused or distracted? Or lie, for example! Or an attempt to patch up or falsify facts, for example, for the sake of an interest? Or maybe it is an attempt to get ?out of an embarrassing predicament, for example

Or a form of circular inference or a form of circular inference or is it always and ever can it be able to be able to be able to be able to? Or as you like it to be. Important to be hooked over their heads. And we consider this so-called despicable (Aql Ibn Think, Consider this mind, dear reader, as appendicitis! And there is no need to use it, as it can be dispensed with just like the appendix in your body. If it is removed, you will live normally and very naturally, and for this reason it is called (appendix), so let your mind be an extra organ and consider it removed and (grow your brain, Pasha, and live Pasha, this is so that they say ignorance is a blessing and knowledge is a curse!. Let the spiritual sanctities always remain Above all, but here another question arises: (What is she above them doing??!! Why not humble and bring down these sanctities from the heavens of their heights to our humble minds

We are about what is most important. You, my dear, must understand and realize what is more important, deeper, and much greater than that. It is in your interest, and always remember that this meandering and ambiguity protects you, my dear, as I told you, from colliding and colliding in a horrific accident with your poor, stupid mind that is disobedient and damned, and which will inevitably pass away because understanding has become impossible despite all this clarity and all these explanations and explanations!! ! I do not see you God hated someone dear to you in such an accident and the painful affliction that buried the mind of its owner in the tomb of the torment of thought and hell. And the rest in your life (and makes it the last of sorrows).

The Right man in the Right shoes Ala Una, ala D, Don't you see) Of course, dear reader, you have) heard these three words penetrate your ears and resonate with his words in your ears

Many times, whether on television, in the pages of newspapers or magazines, or even in fact, you may have attended several auctions or even one auction. The important thing is that you have the idea or background to be eligible to enter the race at any time, and if necessary, you must take lessons It is sufficient to learn the basics of the profession and its professionalism, or at the very least, to be familiar with its broad outlines Of course, but it is one of the basics of learning the profession, why?

In order for you to have your customer and you can attract him with ease and ease, so that he will be in your hand like an easy, soft dough that does not disobey you in an order and does not break a word for you. Of course, your words are confirmed by the customer, or say the customers, and your grip is on them from every direction, so they do not cease unless they are under your command, at your fingertips, and at your disposal.

One day the vizier died, who had a great heart and benefactor to every poor or oppressed person, but when the minister died and before his death he thought about the idea (infernal and intelligence deathAnd savvy painted) The idea or will of the minister before his was that whoever deserves to rule after him in the ministry must be worthy of this position and in order to give opportunity to everyone, we agreed that the minister has a great and abundant heart and kindness, and his subjects and his assistants are not stingy. or large. Before his death, he had recommended in a book of his that he had written with his two gracious hands to bequeath him after his death in the event that a painful affliction fell and a great death befell his life. In his life, he must be worthy of this position and that lofty position, and in order to rise to this high position and high rank, he must be appropriate in whole and in detail (detailing and not preference!!!!), and the ruling here is for size and measurement. And foundation !. But what assuming the position will only be on this the is the basis? It is measurement and measurement! What size?

(Boot size and no blame) The deceased left his shoes to them to be the basis for them and he is for them the role model and the beacon, whoever his shoes were of the same size and according to which the description matches the size, he is inevitably the winner and on the chair is sitting and there is no doubt or impossibility in that. And until the picture is complete and justice is established, the racetrack is not restricted to men only, for women have a role and a place even if it was not possible for her before, so now it is her turn and what has passed from her matter and what was from her condition is over and it was in the news that it was, but now and not before it suddenly jumps The baffling question in their minds, saying all of them and asking, why the shoes? Does the mind suffer from a disease?!!!

So why is the preference of shoes over any thought, mind or Person or performance?!!! Is this nonsense? Isn't this wondrous commandment a living example of stupidity, and between it and what is right after its estrangement? A torrent of questioning rain, and the truth is eager and with an adequate and optimistic answer, but an answer came and what a strange and strange answer and clarification that increased from the overcast clouds in the sky of mystery, an overcast cloud, followed by cloud after cloud. The answer was that the right candidate for orders must be obedient and a member of the herd.

What do you know about the herd? It is a large and wide crowd, and life and its survival are important and useful. They are the enemies of valor and courage, the enemies of the shoe and the supporters of intelligence. Aah intelligence what a clear enemy and a cursed and accursed devil. He stands like an impenetrable barrier in the face of the flow of the torrent of good, rather the bounty of the herd. Here another new question has arisen from the faithful and faithful members of the herd, who are faithful and obedient to commands and prohibitions, and rise up and ask And why is the shoe the anchor of our horses and the house of the disease, and it is also the medicine??!!!

But the answer was dark, and the truth in it is almost gloomy, and the lights are dark between them, which is that the members of the herd must increase and not decrease in order to be led and not to be led astray, only (the number is in the lemon), but you must know that any new thought is a rebellious devil, and you, then you, and then you from renewal, then woe to you. You have a threat, and you have no right to deviate from the path of the herd or go far.. the line is always drawn for you and forever and it is tight with an iron fist. And their destruction is inevitable if someone comes up with any renewal.

And you must know and believe, O sincere and honest believers, that the shoe's colonization of the mind is (browning) and that this benevolence of the mind lies in its essence in presenting, venerating and maximizing transmission over the mind!!!!. Apologies to your friend the donkey, for I realized that whoever deserves to take my position after me and take my place, his measurement must be from the same standard as me and his foundation is based on a foundation.

Of the same basic, and that he must consolidate the same friendships and strengthen the bonds of love with other brothers and sisters and others because the interest is one and the goal is one and the common denominator between both parties was and still is one. It is you. And who are the two parties, my dear loved ones,? They are the ones who always and forever keep away from all demons and wickedness. They are two merciful parties, tenderness, one side of authority, strength, and rule, and the other side of mercy, justice, intimidation and enticement. How beautiful and noble they are, and they complement each other. And the light of justice, equality and mercy pours into the well of a happy and prosperous life. An authoritarian party and a spiritual party..peace (is this speech) both of them at your convenience work and for it they stay up and all their concern is in this Both sides are always honest and have never and will not lie.

So you will always and forever enjoy the tenderness of the miller's hand between the two parts of the mill, for it is more kind to you than your parents. And whoever will come after me must be on the same path and in the same size, otherwise all people will be lost. This was the commandment that made souls tormented and miserable. Here, after suffering, the answer shined in the reddened minds and became present, and the response to the implementation of the required response was a capable and strong response, and then the auction was opened and the counter began to prepare and the new position was paved, furnished and extended, and everyone aspired to status and Cinderella's shoes or Cinderella is inevitably the winner and who will be the owner of the infallibility is, of course, in The highest position and he must have immunity and in order to reach he must have a strong and solid plan of all durability By any means, he must obtain the required measurement in order to be the beloved and beloved, and in order to achieve the desired goal, the shoe must be his shoe, and from here he uses his inquisitive intelligence!!!

(And he who has not been able to defeat him with his hand can defeat him with his foot) The issue is not measured by thinking, but by reverence and redness. Even if he is forced to use methods of deception and hypocrisy in order to be the owner of the right and merit. (And the invitation is general and there will be a gathering) Everyone entered the race from all classes and levels, and everyone was dreaming and planning while waiting for what was to come. But the result came as a disappointment to all hopes and spoiled what had been planned and paved for by all the common people of all classes and levels, men, women and ladies, and it eliminated everything that has come and what is to come. O ladies and gentlemen, the result is as usual.

The slaves are the slaves and the masters are the masters, so do not covet. Far Do not be satisfied with the warmth in the arms of the herd, and do not sleep and forget while you are safe and reassured between those soft, dreamy, caring hands that want your good and always and forever take care of your interests, so close your eyelids while you are in the arms of the gentlemen (excess sugar). , immersed in enjoying the pleasure and ecstasy of worship to be yours, after a long life, and in the end, elevation and leadership. Thank you very much for the good you have bestowed upon us and .bestowed upon us, gentlemen. (is not it ?). (Verse).

Someday is not a weekday (satirical story)

Even his large barn in the large barns one day, and do not forget, my dear donkey, that our village is located on the river or the large lake as the villagers like, they call it, and we have been practicing farming and fishing together for a long time, then the farmer approached by ear, tall, tall, Tall, Qasim, his ratified and then in the ear. His donkey in a sizzling voice said: But I have another hobby, but say another talent or queen, my dear donkey, that it is my grandfather's profession.

My grandfather was a storyteller or a storyteller. On his hands is the love of reading, writing and arithmetic, and he always told me that you are a naughty and cursed boy, a lot of questioning and discussion and thinking about every incoming and outgoing. Like worms, and from that day I decided to replace him after his death, then the farmer started to pat him Tenderly on the back of his donkey, feeling his ear, he said: Do you remember, my donkey, the first story I told after my late grandfather?

I remember how the people of the village applauded me as they gathered around me, and shouts of admiration and amazement rose after I acted and embodied the story for them. The donkey brayed twice as a sign of approval of his master's words, shaking his head. Then the farmer added, saying in a tone dripping with sadness and emotion from his words: Do you know, my donkey, that I decided this morning, when I was fishing, to tell the tale of the night in the evening, after the people of the village gathered around me at the cafe in the usual daily tea session, and the tone of sadness emerged from another overlooking stubbornly

From his lips, which was almost applied to them, as if he wanted to prevent the words from rushing out of his mouth, but they came out nonetheless in stark defiance of him: But this time, unfortunately, I will not tell the story on your tongue as I used to do so often, my dear donkey.

The donkey brayed in a hoarse and sad voice, bowing his head, and the farmer glimpsed a trace of sadness in his tearful eyes. He immediately added in an attempt to beg for the donkey's sympathy: Don't be sad, my donkey friend. A number in a series of numbers or a pill in a loose decade, and I have seen that many before me have preceded me in choosing your honorable person to be the hero of their tales and stories, and this is only thanks to you, my dear friend.

You are always and forever like a tender breast and a tender mother whose chest expands for all stories and novels. You, my friend, have been their refuge and refuge, because you alone suffer from cruelty and carrying weights and burdens. Who knows the taste of suffering like you is more capable than others of feeling the pain of others, then he sighed saying in sorrow: And also add to That is what annoys me the most when he compares others to each other when he wants to call someone stupid, so he says to him (donkey), what their injustice and cruelty! Rather, say, what a stupidity they are! You, my donkey, are better and smarter than them. If they find someone who is obedient like you, serious about his work, conscientiously, enduring hardship and exerting effort and giving, they accuse him of being kind, naive and stupid, and forget that kindness is not stupidity, but rather a blessing lost by the idiots.

Their opinion is tricks! And their conscience had slept and rested a long time ago, then smiled while looking at his donkey saying: But I, my donkey, never see you in this way, because I have a great and great friend and a close friend, but all that is, is that when I was fishing this morning and on the bank of the river I saw a boat swimming quietly from afar And I saw a big fish inside the boat that was closer to the size of a large whale, and the fisherman was carrying it on The boat puts it behind his back while he was rowing with the oar, and he looked at it every moment that passed, as if he wanted to be assured of its presence in the wooden boat, because it .will surely be coveted by everyone who sees it

Two days later, on one of the summer nights, the breeze was gentle and the moon was full and covered with its light throughout the village and threw its silver tooth on the stacked chairs inside the café, then the storyteller entered and sat down and started telling his story while everyone was present and their eyes looked at him and their heads were filled with eagerness and longing seemed to shine on their faces and longing He spoke on their tongues as if he was rushing towards the narrator, begging him to quench their thirst to hear his story that night.

The storyteller sat on his high chair in the midst of the crowd. The voices, applause and whistling sounded, signaling the beginning of the story. O honorable one, and it is not possible to speak except by following the mind for it with all appreciation and respect. One day, a group of animals gathered in a very large wooden ship for one of the fishermen, and the largest of them was the whale after the lion disappeared from the scene, and he preferred to stay in his den, perhaps because he felt that there was something in the matter.

Suspicion and inflamed his brutality, so he preferred to hand the flag to the whale to act on his behalf, if the whale participated in major events found serious events and details that were made or say events he created!!! as the creationists say and it produced the most important event in the universe, which is itself (the universe, or in a more accurate sense (the throne)!!! Therefore, the whale advanced all the animals on the ship and sat in arrogance while bragging about himself, saying: I was supposed to carry you all instead of the ship, but I preferred to be Between you, let's chat and have a conversation that I think will be useful for all of us to clarify important matters for .all of us

The fox looked at him with clear sarcasm and arrogance, and in a tone of sarcasm, said: Why can you alone carry the ship?! And why did you take this credit for yourself and deprive us of this golden opportunity that you were? You will enjoy it on us. Wasn't the huge more.. Or do you think you believed elephant able to do that and those legends and tales that claim that you once carried an entire !!!throne on your back before there was anything else

With overconfidence, the whale replied, saying: These are not hearsay, my dear fox. Rather, they are facts mentioned by many .books and explained in long explanations

What do you know that these hadiths and explanations are true? - Could they not be illusions and deceptions? I doubt their authenticity .and deny their credibility

And soon the chimpanzee jumped off the elephant's back, which was yawning, and seemed indifferent to the whale and the fox, and the monkey repeated fidgetingly. He said: Will you not suffice for a grandfather like this sterile one? What would it benefit us animals if the throne was carried on the back of this huge whale or not, and what would harm us if this was a kind of fantasy.. But the chimpanzee, known for its intelligence, sighed after being strayed for a moment, saying: Although I thought about it carefully before and no Keeping you a secret, I found myself in great confusion between believing my mind and being convinced of this matter and between !!!denying it

The Fox: If we complete our discussion of this illogical matter and put it under the microscope of reason and science, perhaps we can reveal many facts, you naughty monkey. The monkey answered him with apprehension that what frightens me about the whole issue is the danger we are in now, as we may all drown in the depths of this deep sea with this foolish man who put us all in one ship and (mixing the rope with the arrow) and claimed that he gathered the largest number of other animals he had up to many times our number and said he put them on the other side of this huge ship.

In a tone that is not free of anxiety and bewilderment, the chimpanzee continued his speech, saying: I think about it carefully, and if we sink to the bottom of this sea, death is an inevitable result for all of us for very many reasons that make it illogical that we continue to live even if the ship reaches the shore of survival, the most important of which is that most of us live On land, we can't swim

If the ship sank and faced the flood, and even the animals that could do that, they would be surprised by the sinking of the ship and would not even have a way out of its high wooden walls and this wooden roof that he built over us this clumsy, I feel my breath choking how .can we all breathe in this narrow space

With an intermittent bark bearing a sarcastic melody mixed with-- indifference, the dog said: How strange it is, chimpanzee, that all this .large space above which we all stand is not enough for you Stop sarcasm, smart dog. It is not the time for your jokes now. The -- fox added: Indeed, it is very dangerous. All our lives are in danger, you animal community. The problem does not stop at drowning or suffocation only, but goes far beyond that. I regret to say To you that in this case we will be threatened with extinction because there must be a certain number for each type of animal (the minimum number of animals to preserve the survival of the species, ensure its existence and prevent the loss of genetic variance, and this requires an environmental balance and a certain number of all animals, and this is not available to us currently and we are on the The appearance of this damned ship, in addition to the fact that this number is not the same for us, the animals, because the calculation of this required number differs from one animal to another and from one environment to another, and his calculations are very complex, and I ,do not think that this idiot leader has any idea about this

It is an ecosystem and a phenomenon of nature. Even if we do not drown, we will surely die of hunger and thirst, and this food that we eat will soon run out, no matter how much. Also, I am starting to feel hungry and my stomach is screaming for help, ordering me to call for her, and you know that I feed on chickens and ducks, just as my friend the wolf feeds on rabbits, and so do the rest of the other animals, even if the captain of this ship had the slightest degree of mind and thought before he was executed. The stupid upper orders that imprisoned us here forever to realize that (the food ladder) needs it to take a greater quantity of each type of animal because we feed on each other, so how can it take only two from each pair??!!!!

We are definitely doomed, If his supreme leader, the Almighty, the wise, had an iota of intellect, he would never have commanded what he did. It is impossible for any food of any kind to suffice in this way so many animals on board this damned ship. We may all suffocate in this place. And how will the space and space for all of us in the midst of this momentum for all kinds of animals! Even if we stood stacked on top of each other or each of us sat on one centimeter, it would not !!!be logical for us to fit into any space, no matter how big it is

With great astonishment, the clever goat opened its mouth and felt the condition of the fox and the extent of the anxiety, confusion and thinking that he was in, saying, "Wow!!! The fox, the owner of cunning and intelligence, is in a state of change, and his opponent is cunning and cunning. Then she said sadly, while sighing a long sigh: How much time and how much knowledge do we need for others to realize that what we are in is illogical, irrational and unwise, it is a .clear destruction

Indeed, my goat friend, you always feel my condition just by -- looking at my face, your intelligence is a foregone conclusion, but the danger to all of us paralyzed my thinking and exhausted my mind, and I do not find a way out to solve this crisis that we are immersed !in its deep sea

Quickly and impulsively, the ostrich raised its head, which it used to hide in the sand while on dry land. With confidence and high confidence, the ostrich continued, saying: I do not see any reason for all this thinking and this anxiety, especially in the presence of the whale, our great leader. He has carried a full throne on the water and certainly will not be unable About carrying us all on his back, and don't forget, my friends, animals and birds, that the sea is its natural place, isn't it, you wonderful whale (she said while turning to the .(whale with a broad and confident smile on her face

.Of course, my dear ostrich, but there is a small problem

what is it -

Frankly, after great doubt and deep thought about what is said about me in this regard that you mentioned, my virtuous lady, the ostrich, I have been in doubt for a long time. And the questions will clash in a strong clash with your brilliant mind, which has won a major prize in laziness and sleeping in a deep slumber, and when it exerts itself, it is foolish for your mind to tire itself and strain itself in the struggle of bitter thinking while seeing things clearly and clearly before it and accepting with great confidence everything it hears and everything it . is taught to it

With great confidence, the ostrich added, saying: Indeed, my whale friend, I heard a tremendous religious lesson in one of the speeches and seminars of the well-known scholar (Mustafa Masoud). He was telling the story of creation and he explained in detail (and take a moment to pay attention) the scientific aspect of the issue of the origin of the universe and how you, O great whale Scientifically and in faith, you can carry a throne on your back. And that the water came out of the ground, as confirms the beliefs and spiritual sanctities, which are also scientific, discovered by scientists according to his claims, excuse me (according to his scientific .!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!information Indeed, my friend, he is a dreamy man. I mean (world) His words and opinions always carry a taste (sweet and bitter at the same time, he mixes (sweet and salty with each other (sweet and savory) and of course I trust with all confidence that this taste will always satisfy you, my ostrich friend

The octopus intervened with his usual intelligence, explaining the picture, so his words came like lightning that shines in a darkened sky, illuminating it with the splendor of its light, saying: He is in fact a man who seeks to achieve interests and goals other than the ones you imagine that he is very useful to the authority and serves its goals. The bitter he offers, perhaps this taste for them does not seem alienating or strange, but on the contrary, perhaps this mixture has a distinctive flavor and a mixture flavored with the taste of interests and the imposition of domination on the people and its members Quickly, the dolphin enters the dialogue with the speed of its usual intuition, saying: It is a distinct taste. We, the animals, have missed trying it, but I think that perhaps it was made specifically for human beings. Sometimes I feel pity for them. Taste!!! Perhaps as a result of tasting it, eating it, or (hearing and absorbing it, a new product, I am confident that it will have an effect on the human mind, and how creative a person is with a mind or a mind!!!, it is a new idea that will produce new individuals with a new thought. My whale friend, how is innovation?

Have you seen the fabrication of its origins? I mean, excuse me (renewal and clarification) how it is. Learn from this religious or !!!!!!!scientific religious world

And with all the astonishment you could be in a creature that hung - the huge whale, his mind was hot and swirled in his head a lot, saying: I confess to you, my friends, that I have been puzzled and lost my mind a lot in attributing this story to the fact that I did it in these stories that are full of beliefs and sanctities and that our heads have always been cracked by gentlemen The virtuous sheikhs and religious scholars (meaning the cute) are the firefighters who moderate their religious affairs so that they combine both good things, just as the scholar (Mustafa Masoud) and other “modern sheikhs” do, who give religion in a cover of “soft cellophane paper, in ”.a modern way

The fox added, "You mean the modern swindler

Perhaps this meaning crossed my mind, but I said to myself, “Perhaps it is a feature of the modern era. Perhaps it is a new fashion, the fashion of fraud in a modern way, as if a person loves a certain profession, but it is full of defects, negatives and health damage, and since he relied on it to achieve his goals and purposes, but rather say” his gains)) so he had to try to patch up the worn-out dress and fill the gaps created by time over time in order to bridge the rift and bridge the wide gap between the past and the present and the truth and illusion, science and religion. what it aims at (The forefinger sticks.) But what baffles me the most is that they put on me the clothes of (Superman or Tarzan, even though I am just a whale. How can I turn into a powerful genie, carrying an entire throne above my back, that my back will not bear this? Then I do not know and he did not say To us, or one of the scientists reveals to us and reveals to us the truth of this throne, its quality and its existence in particular, I have never heard of a space scientist who discovered something like this in the atmosphere or as they call it (the sky). A prophet, guardian, or a righteous man with whom the hand of divine providence was kind and I let him live inside me alive and !!!!sustenance until I wrote him salvation replied the fox: and what bothers you about that, big whale. Let it be a legendary character, like you are (Superman and Tarzan).

Everyone glorifies them and praises others and describes them as Tarzan and Superman when they perform heroic deeds, although in fact they do not exist. Congratulations to you, my friend, you entered history from The doors widened and I became a legendary hero attributed to you all the supernatural actions of logic and reason. He surpassed logic and penetrated it, my friend, until you became .(beyond logic and beyond reason. (Your sister, Uncle

In order for what you are saying, my dear fox, to be fulfilled, I must first meet some conditions, the most important of which is, first: my mind is completely absent from consciousness and existence so that it can perceive and comprehend what I mentioned of the supernatural, I must first eradicate my mind.

Second: That my intelligence that is known about me be completely destroyed and I became one of the idiots in order to take the honor of these great sacred heroics and enter history as you mentioned, for in order for someone to be granted this religious honor, he must sacrifice his mind as a scapegoat when he commits the first sin of thought and present it as an offering in the hope that he will be forgiven his major sin slip It is an outrageous thought, reason or logic, and God forbid, it is one of the major sins, especially in this .time

Third: It is the most important thing for me to learn the method of indoctrination and receiving since childhood so that I am ready and ready to fulfill the orders of the Great Creator and stay away from the accursed Satan, and to understand the lesson well, which is to consider my mind as an appendix and that it is nothing more than an extra organ in the body that is not needed by me. To live without it is just like an appendix, and although I have often asked myself what is the benefit of having an extra organ in the body that can be dispensed with, and at the same time sometimes this organ can explode suddenly causing death despite being a dependent organ on the body!!!!!!

It must be a great moral wisdom that a limited animal mind cannot comprehend. I found nothing but this answer to my confusion. Wisdom. It is the password, the bottom line, and the anchor for the horse. Whenever you find a problem or something illogical, say (Wisdom) (Every time you get stuck, say wisdom), just as Ismail Yassin said in the comedy movie (Every time you get stuck, say .(((Carrots, you will find me in front of you always

In a tone that is not devoid of sarcasm, the fox said with his ingenuity: Do not be surprised, my friend, that it is a omnipotent (omnipotent) power. Nothing can stand in front of it, and no miracle is incapable of it.

A whale commands yourself something in front of this miraculous ability, you are only harnessed to carry out and obey orders. It is imperative that your mind has been completely absent from consciousness, or that you may have had the honor of being stupid. And in order to obtain this honor, you must have swallowed your .mind in your gut so that it no longer exists

Suddenly the dog barked as if it were a stream of words that came out like punches from the mouth of his mouth, saying: The great calamity is embodied in the inability to determine the type and credibility of this honor of faith that I spoke about, my friend, the cunning fox. What is written in his books and spiritual beliefs is the truth itself, and it is the absolute truth that every belief and every belief in it claims to own, while no one owns a particular absolute truth. You trust with certainty what you believe, and every belief is divided against itself into sub-beliefs, and every branch believes that it is the first, and it is he who will carry the flag because he is first .and more deserving of others, and he has priority and importance

And each of them sees that he is the one who represents credibility, while the others are not. They are just pretenders, infiltrators, and liars to him. I see that reason and logic are one and clear, but they are more and more vague and ambiguous, and if we animals want to clarify the truth one day so that we are aware, aware and clear. With these beliefs and sanctities, and we know their truth, and who among them represents them?? We will not find a satisfactory answer or adequate explanations? And the question will remain hanging. Who of these beliefs and myths represents the truth and the true true belief? I am afraid that they themselves do not represent themselves, or perhaps that God does not represent himself (I do not know him). (When I like to speak to the people, I speak to whom?!!!) What I fear, my animal friends, is that there are !!!!.alien beings who represent the true true belief Religious

Then the dog smiled a smile that overflowed with torrents of mockery, saying: This reminds me of the saying of one of the philosophers, but as the believers call him a heretic, he (the only excuse for God is that he does not exist). He simply did not witness and did not know anything of this or that, and they were the ones .who put on that garment for something in the soul of Jacob

The octopus raised its intertwined arms amid the astonishment - - and amazement of the animals, and knotted all its intertwined arms in a large knot system and began trying to untie them, repeating: The flood is coming inevitably. My intuition and my intelligence never betray me. The flood all of us, the logic says that the mighty waves and the torrential torrent are among the most dangerous threats to any ship, whatever its size, and I see that this clumsy man is leading us to mirage and nothingness, but I wonder how the divine power wants us to do that. It is a great merciful power, but the flood drowns me all if not We escape by ourselves from this cursed ship, and then there is a question about Ali that is pressing on me now. One of the ancient philosophers said, but what we need to ask ourselves the most now, does he want all-powerful as he calls himself this foolish supreme commander and that he has the full power to prevent evil from us but what if He could not,? So he is not omnipotent? Or is he able, but he does not want? So he is evil, no no, of course he is merciful and he is not evil because his name is (Rahim) he must be able to prevent evil, or does he wonder if the name does not apply to the verb?!!! This is what I fear the most, but I think he also wants to prevent evil, but then where does evil come from!!!! And if you told me, my friends, that he is neither able nor willing, then why do we !!?call him omnipotent and why do we glorify him then

The dolphin approached the octopus as if he wanted to whisper to him secretly and in a suspicious voice, the words swung on his mouth and then fell like a sudden torrent, saying: I always wondered ?what God was doing before creating the universe

The octopus added: He was preparing hell and painful torment for those who dare to ask your questions, dear dolphin. Then you always forget that I warned you against committing the greatest of sins, which are fatal. Don't you know that God will hate you when you think and ask, did you not understand that you are committing .one of these? Punishments and fatalities

So what should I do if the questions confused me and were
?tormented by doubts

.The solution is in front of you and very easy

.What is it, please help me -

But it is easy and impossible, but if you master it, there will be no - -
.easier than it. You have to master the art of fabrication

.Surprisingly, the fabrication -

Yes, yes, the art of fabricating answers and patching them up, it is a great art that only the likes of this religious scholar and religious scholar can master, as well as the honorable sheikhs and clergymen. It is a great art whose content is that whenever you find something illogical and incomprehensible in beliefs and sanctities, all you have to do is twist the neck of truth and the neck of logic and patch this concept and this mysterious religious belief and thus solve the problem. Then the octopus smiled with a maliciously wide smile, saying: You still have a lot to learn, dull student, to learn the art of .patchwork, fabrication and deception

The dolphin shook his head saying: Ah, now I understand why I -- - always saw rulers approaching the jurists and clerics from them (the jurists and the sultan) because they are very useful to them. And now I realized that the depth of the benefit lies in the fact that the spiritual belief is the inability of the human mind to deal with events that it cannot comprehend. This is very useful for the ruler to impose control and tighten his grip on his poor people, and of course with the help of the clergy. Legitimacy of speech, commands, desires, .and even whims

I approached them crawling and its known brightness was extinguished by the presence of the strong light, it is the firefly that listens calmly and wisely to the dialogue that took place between the animals and added: You know, my animal friends, that beliefs, sanctities and spirituality remind me a lot of myself, that there is a great similarity between me And between them, we both need .darkness to shine

The fox approached her calmly: You are right, O wise insect. It must be dark for many things in order for it to become brighter, because these religious beliefs are very sensitive to light. Therefore, darkness creates an atmosphere of calm, and this calm atmosphere is very much loved and adored by the ruler, because it helps him to carry out tasks skillfully and accurately. All beings, especially the human race, which is charged and empowered with the most important tasks of the earth, its reconstruction and development, we will find that they are divided into two, as Abu Al-Ala Al-Maari said (two are the people of the earth with a mind without religion and the other with a religion without a mind!). And to which direction the ship of life will take us, no one even knows Now, and to what direction will this ship take us, shall we live or die? No definite answer yet?

We are waiting, just waiting to count, but we have to ask ourselves some questions: Should we be silent about what we are in, or should we speak? Do we accept ignorance or strive to learn Is it better for us to live in the dark or the light Are we content to shine and shine ?like a firefly in the dark

The octopus said: I see that the captain of this ship is blind with his mind and stupidity that destroys us with his false claim that he is carrying out higher orders that he cannot in any way deviate from. And the measure and taking measures while he is not a scholar or an expert father. If the supreme and greatest commander in all power, the commander of the entire ship of life, actually exists, how can he be satisfied that what happens to us happens, and how does he leave all this evil and annihilation to happen? How does he allow himself to put us in this damned predicament? How does he leave us inside the crater of a volcano of danger that we are inevitably real and finished??!!!

How can he be silent about the evil that is teeming with the ship? What is the guilt of children in the face of death and disease? What is the guilt of innocent people who are unjustly imprisoned and bear crimes and indecent assault? If this supreme commander of the life ship was actually present, we would have to prosecute him and hold him accountable, we are the ones who must hold him accountable, not him. Rather, I think that it would be necessary to get rid of it if it .already existed

The parrot, with its colorful feathers, flew over the heads of all the animals, chanting in a soft voice, saying: It will start where you will .stop and you will end

If you stop knowing, questioning and thinking, he will begin to impose his control and tighten his grip, intimidating them and terrorizing them from the unknown that awaits them if you do not obey him, and you start hesitating to beware of the unknown, beware .of the unknown. Think of tomorrow

Finally, the whale uttered, after shedding a large quantity of water- from its tail, saying firmly: I have believed the parrot. Our fate is unknown at the hands of the captain of the ship, this idiot. The closest thing to them is what a deceiver. But the mistake was our fault from the beginning, we who believed in him, opportunity after opportunity, we gave him to control us, and to his words we obeyed without thinking and we responded without explanation, so he became overpowered, forced, cruel and arrogant until he caught us in partnership and his ropes and the rope was wrapped around our necks when we boarded behind him that damned ship, our secret or without understanding On the path he wanted, and we rode the wave that he liked, until he started walking us according to his whims and desires. And this is what he wanted (He said, Pharaoh, what is your pharaoh?

He said, "No one can blame me." When one person suffers from delusion, we call it insanity, and when a group of people suffers from delusion, we call it religiosity, belief, and its rituals are spiritual! We have all suffered greatly from delusion, and I am afraid that we have woken up here in the open sea, in the midst of the mighty waves, .waiting for the deluge that destroys all

With regret and sadness, the octopus affirmed: Only the herd - - needs a leader to lead it, and we must now not surrender to this .leader or follow him

The dolphin replied: I think that there is no diplomatic way for you - - to tell others that they spent their lives on board the ship at sea .(without knowing or even knowing it, in short (they lived in illusions

The Fox: We have no evidence that the commander-in-chief, the wise administrator of the ship, is actually present on its board, ruling and managing the matter with wisdom, experience, knowledge, and a strong, mighty, wise ruler, or vice versa. He is able to tighten his grip around our necks, but the higher the rate of thinking, the higher the mind, the science and the logic, the higher our questions and the more doubts we have, the stronger and weaker his hands are folded

.around our necks

?Octopus: What mistake do you mean

The fox: a mistake that is one of two possibilities that have no - - third, either we are just a mistake he made, or he is just a mistake we made. And the ship is still moving at sea without a specific goal, and the animals and creatures are waiting, they are waiting for life, or they are waiting Death, they are waiting! (And wait, I am with you among those waiting)! They are just waiting. A slogan was written on the ship (This is my religion: Do your duties and do not wait for a reward for that, neither in your life nor in your death." Greetings (Bertrand Russell).
